Truth, Unity, Peace

To explain and defend the truths of faith, to maintain unity among the many parishes of his diocese, and to bring spiritual peace to the souls entrusted to his care—this is the work of our bishop. In his three fruitful years as spiritual leader of the Diocese of Manchester, Bishop Primeau has greatly furthered the aims emblazoned on his coat of arms. He has served on preparatory committees for the Ecumenical Council, promoted the lay apostolate in Latin America, and fostered practical methods of religious instruction for the laity, to name only a few of his many accomplishments. Bishop Primeau has truly been a source of inspiration to every member of his flock, and particularly to us, the 1963 graduating class of St. Joseph High School.

His Excellency
The Most Reverend Ernest J. Primeau, S. T. D.
Bishop of Manchester

CATHEDRAL RECTORY
ONE FORTY FIVE LOWELL STREET
MANCHESTER, NEW HAMPSHIRE

To the 1963 Graduating Class of St. Joseph High School:

On our journey through life we encounter many milestones, some seemingly more important than others. As graduates of St. Joseph High School you have arrived at one of these more important milestones. For it marks a day of decision.

Having reached young womanhood, you will direct your paths towards a definite goal. For some, it will mean continuation of your studies for professional or business life; for others, marriage and the establishment of a home; for all, it will be a day of parting.

Your years in high school have served to prepare you well for your future lives. They have given you a solid education, based on the firm foundation of your Catholic faith. The real test of the value of that training now rests with you. The sacrifices of your parents in your behalf, the devoted interest and hopes of your teachers merit your most earnest efforts of achievement. You will not, you must not fail them.

May Our Blessed Mother Mary, whom you have chosen as your ideal, may St. Joseph, patron of your school, guide and protect you and may the Child Jesus shower you with an abundance of His blessings for a full and fruitful life.

And may we all extend to you, the Graduates of 1963, our most sincere good wishes and congratulations for work well done.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Edward A. Clark
Pastor.

*The Right Reverend
Edward A. Clark, V. G., P. A.
Rector of St. Joseph Cathedral*

CLASS HISTORY

FRESHMAN YEAR

September 1st, 1950, marked the beginning of 120 young girls. We, as freshmen at St. Joseph High School, were marking upon a new phase in our lives. But held promises of a bright future. Our first day began on an authoritative note with a welcome from our principal, Sister Mary Vincent, who after briefly outlining what was expected of St. Joseph High School, was assigned us to the homerooms of Sister Mary Ann, Sister Mary Margaret, Sister Mary Alisa. These understanding teachers were to guide us through our freshman year.

Our first assignment as high school students was to elect our class presidents. Kathleen Ball, Natalie Myers, and Mary Frances Perry did a excellent job representing us as the Student Council. Though we could not vote, we participated in a vigorous campaign against Kathleen Ball as president of the organization.

In October, we participated in a Communion Crusade by receiving Holy Communion every day. In December, a very flow of social events took place, and one of the Father Daughter Dances. In January, we participated in a very successful campaign for Home Help Queen. Everyone was pleased to see Mary Margaret Deschenes crowned that night.

St. Joseph's was very active in March. We presented "Enjoying Poor Helen" as our play. This year, Mary Frances Perry, Ann Connors, Natalie Myers, and Patricia Thompson. The following week were decorated by the school because that Kathleen Ball was the class school spirit.

April brought our first retreat, reached by Father Nicholas Spagnolo, C. P. S. In May we had our very first Daughter Tea, and in June ended one successful year of high school.

SOPHOMORE YEAR

Most of us returned again in September, much more sophisticated than we were the previous year. We were welcomed by our homeroom teachers, Sister Mary Evmard, Sister Mary Margaret, and Sister Mary Alisa.

We were very active in our class presidents in Kathleen Ball, Rose Reed, and Mary Trask. We were very active in the Student Council election, so we eagerly cast our ballots for Kathleen Ball.

In December we had our first Winter Formal and saw Janet McQuade crowned Queen. In January, we participated in the Father Daughter Dance. Our campaign for Home Help Queen was Denise Deschenes, and although she did not win, she made a very good impression on Queen Carol Klotz's court.

St. Joseph Week was heralded by the initiation of a new activity—an intramural basketball game! We were understandably jubilant when our team of underclassmen defeated the Juniors and Seniors. As our play, we presented "I Never Said a Word, But . . ." which starred Mary Eileen Besakirskis, Joyce Cuff, Barbara Shea, Karen Sullivan, and Patricia Thornton. The crowning of Claire Handley as "Miss School Spirit" climaxed this eventful week.

That spring, Father Thomas Fay, S. J. preached our retreat. On May 21, we attended the Mother-Daughter Tea, and then before we realized it, June had arrived bringing with it the close of another school year.

JUNIOR YEAR

We returned in September with joyful faces, not because we were particularly happy to be back in school, but because we now had the privilege of being called "upper classmen." As proof of this distinction, Mother Mary Arnoldine, our new principal, assigned us to our homerooms in the Seneca Lane building.

Our homeroom teachers were Sister Mary Benita, Sister Mary Delia, and Mrs. Devine. We wasted little time in electing our class presidents, Ann Connors, Priscille Tessier, and Elaine Hunter. This election was quickly followed by a vigorous Student Council campaign climaxed by the election of Mary Louise Spain as president.

We attended our second Winter Formal in December and saw Norma Larochelle crowned Queen. January once again brought with it the Father-Daughter Dance, and February soon followed with a memorable Heart Hop. That year we launched an energetic campaign for Christine Horan. Though Gail Cloutier won, we were still very proud of Chris.

St. Joseph Week was exceptionally memorable for us as Juniors. Once again we were the victorious team in the basketball game, but our greatest triumph came when our play, "Along Came Harriett," received the "best play" award, and when Barbara Foley was elected the "best actress." Others who starred in "Along Came Harriett" were Mary Frances Barry, Jeanne Duval, Christine Tramelak, Claire Longchamps, and Audrey Stockbridge.

As Juniors, too, we were pleased when the faculty elected members of our class to the National Honor Society. These were Janet Cistonguay, Ann Connors, Joyce Cuff, Eileen Daly, Kathleen Ebert, Janice Roy, Priscille Tessier, Paula Tetreault, and Mary Trask.

Later in the spring we once again reserved three days for our annual retreat. It was given by Reverend Francis Larkin, SSCC, a Sacred Heart father from Queen of Peace Mission in Jaffrey, New Hampshire. He closed the retreat with an impressive ceremony in which the Sacred Heart was enthroned in each classroom.

In May, we entertained our Mothers at the Mother-Daughter Tea, as well as the Seniors at the Junior-Senior Tea.

June came, and so did our first prom. Sandra Campellone was crowned Queen. Two weeks later, we watched our Senior friends depart and we knew that in one year we would be the graduating class taking part in the singout and the rose procession.

SENIOR YEAR

At last we were Seniors! Assigned to the homerooms of Sister Mary Imelda, Sister Mary Olivia, and Sister Mary Angela, we elected as class presidents Jeanne Beauparlant, Ann Connors, and Janice Roy. Later that fall, Eileen Daly emerged victorious in the election for Student Council president. Other officers of the Council were Phyllis Blixt, Ann Connors, Mary Frances Perry, and Patricia Thornton. Club presidents were Eileen Daly, Future Teachers of America, Priscille Tessier, Future Nurses Club, Bonnie Welch, Mathematics Society, Joyce Cuff, Mu Alpha Theta; and Cheryl Perri, Orchestra. Patricia Thornton was chosen Prefect of the Sodality and Mary Trask was named editor of the Scientist.

At the Christmas Assembly we were entertained by a delightful play, "The Littlest Angel." Starring in this production were Mary-Eileen Besakirskis, Patricia Cavanaugh, Virginia Chang, Joyce Cull, Dolores Loisele, Kathleen McNamara, Christine Monahan, Donna Precopio, Janice Roy, Kathleen Shea, and Priscille Tessier.

The Winter Formal, held at the Carousel Ballroom on December 26, was highlighted by the crowning of Stella Szopa as Queen. Her Senior attendants were Jeanne Beauparlant and Jeanne Rossignol.

On January 25, we danced for the last time with our Dads at the Father-Daughter Dance. In February, our three Heart Hop Queen candidates were Carol Michael, Frances Piterak, and Janice Roy. Everyone was elated when Janice was crowned Queen.

The last week of March was "St. Joseph Week." Once again our team of upper classmen triumphed in the basketball game. Everyone was very proud and happy to see Eileen Daly receive the title of "Miss School Spirit." Our play was "My Aunt Agatha." It starred Judith Baldwin, Jeanne Duval, Barbara Foley, Natalie Myers, and Luba Semczyszyn.

At the April 5-6 State Science Fair, held in Plymouth, New Hampshire, we were proud to have Mary-Frances Perry represent St. Joseph High School. We were happy, too, when she received a second place award in recognition of her project: "The Chemistry of Plants."

April 17, 18, 19 were the days set aside for our annual retreat. Reverend Raymond J. Casey, C.S.Sp., a Holy Ghost Father from Washington, D. C., proved to be one of our most interesting and helpful retreat masters yet.

On May 5, we once again treated our Mothers at the Mother-Daughter Tea. Also that month we attended a memorable Junior-Senior Tea. Our Senior Prom, held on May 31, was one that we will remember for years.

All too soon graduation exercises were upon us. Many a tear was wiped away as we closed a very important chapter in our lives: four memorable years at St. Joseph High School!

- I, CORALEE BENZ, will to my two younger sisters, Barbara and Marilyn, my monotone voice in the choir
- I, MAE BERGERON, will to Mary Lou Talford, my front seat in Sister M. Myles' room. Enjoy it!
- I, MARY-EILEEN BESAKIRSKIS, will to my sister Kathleen, an incoming freshman, a written guarantee that she will have plenty of trouble—with her last name!
- I, PHYLLIS BLIXT, will to my sister Patricia, my favorite seat in Mrs. Devine's room
- I, DORIS BOUCHARD, will to Maureen Skerfington, all the fun she can possibly have in her Senior year. Good luck Maureen!
- I, PRISCILLA BOUVIER, will to Cynthia Daniel, something I'm sure she'll enjoy—my leaving!
- I, ELLEN BROUILLARD, will to Kathleen Collins, my good marks in Bookkeeping and my seat by the window
- I, DIANE BUNNELL, will to Kathleen Huffstutlar, my knack for saving the wrong things at the wrong time.
- I, SHARRON BURKE, will to Maureen Fannon, my front seat in Bookkeeping.
- I, KATHLEEN CASEY, will to Doreen Helbert, my experiences during the February vacation of my Senior year.
- I, JANET CASTONGUAY, will to any deserving Junior, my ability to get long-range assignments done overnight.
- I, PATRICIA CAVANAUGH, will to my sister Joan, my old boots to run between buildings with in the winter.
- I, LINDA CHEVREFILS, will to Christine Bozek, the best in her last year at St Joseph's
- I, VIRGINIA CLANG, will to Janine Duguay, all the fun and happiness I have had during my last year at St. Joseph's. Good luck, Janine!
- I, DORIS CLEMENT, will to Jo-Ann Kelly, my seat in Mrs. Devine's Bookkeeping class.
- I, ANN CONNORS, will to my sister Jane, my dictionary, so that she will always be able to find "time"—to do her homework!
- I, CANDACE COTE, will to Deanne Courchesne, my broken-down skis.
- I, SUZANNE COTE, will to Susan Fredette my seat in Mrs. Devine's second period study, with the hope that she enjoys it as much as I did
- I, JOYCE CUFF, will to my sister Teresa, anything she hasn't already borrowed.
- I, DIANE DALLAIRE, will to Rozaline Karam, my persistence in never getting a short haircut.
- I, EILEEN DALY, will to anyone, my ability to acquire two sets of books—one for school and the other for home use
- I, FELICE DESROCHERS, will to Kathleen Collins, my checkmarks in third period study.
- I, KATHLEEN DEVINE, will to my sister Judith, my perfect technique in chemistry lab.
- I, JUDITH DIERS, will to Linda Brack, my inability to ski, with the hope that she may improve upon it

- I, JOAN DONNELLY, will to Margaret O'Donnell, the remains of my Bookkeeping workbook and a year's subscription to the American Observer.
- I, JEANNINE DROUIN, will to Alberta Trothier, my seat in third year French
- I, JEANNI DUVAL, will to my sister Kathleen, an incoming freshman, all the good times I've had at St. Joseph's
- I, KATHLEEN EBERT, will to Patricia Frain, my ability to chew gum in any room but Sister M. Myles
- I, MARY JANE FINNIGAN, will to my sister Frances, my already dissected frog in Advanced Biology
- I, BARBARA FOLEY, will to Doreen Hebert, my fur collar, so that she will be warm (?) during Mrs. Devine's Bookkeeping class
- I, CHRISTINE FRANELAK, will to my Junior friends, 180 days and 1119 hours of study and fun for a successful Senior year
- I, JANET GRUETER, will to Suzanne Stasyn, my ability to wake up at 6:30 and get to school on time
- I, MARY HABAJ, will to my sister Kathleen, my ability to sing at all times and on all occasions
- I, ANNE HEALY, will to Elizabeth Haley, all my affectionate nicknames
- I, CHRISTINE HORAN, will to Sheila Scott my skiing ability. I hope that she makes more use of it than I did
- I, ELAINE HUNTER, will to my sister Mary, my History notes so that she will not have to rush so much in Sister M. Alisa's room. Good luck, Mary!
- I, VIRGINIA JANAS, will to Theresa Travis, my front seat with its dust cloth in Room 308. Enjoy it more than I have, and remember that Friday is cleaning day!
- I, PATRICIA LAZOTT, will to Janet Clement, my parking place on Lowell Street.
- I, MAUREEN LEACH, will to Elizabeth Cantara, my knack for (?) staying out of trouble
- I, ANDREA LEMIRE, will to Maureen Skeffington, my front seat in Mrs. Devine's room during Bookkeeping. Good luck!
- I, DOLORES LOISELLE, will to my sister Francine, my indescribably happy years at St. Joseph's, which were willed to me by my older sister Christine
- I, CLAIRE LONGCHAMPS, will to Margaret Keane, my job of cleaning the cafeteria after lunch
- I, JUDITH MADDEN, will to Rozaline Karam, my knack of keeping quiet in Mrs. Devine's Bookkeeping class
- I, JUDITH MARTIN, will to my freshman sister Geraldine, my seat in her next year's Biology class
- I, KATHLEEN McNAMARA, will to Juliana Gauthier, a leprechaun with which to guide her cousin. May the luck of the Irish be always with you!

- I, JUDITH MURPHY, will to my sister Janet, my seat in Mrs. Devine's Bookkeeping class, and all my Bookkeeping papers. I hope she has better luck with them than I did
- I, NATALIE MYERS, will to Sandra Lavigne, my seat (last row, last seat, beside window) in Sister M. Olivia's room, in order to watch the freshmen arrive
- I, JANICE OCZYKOWSKI, will to Margaret Dupessis, the privilege of keeping C A P alive at St. Joseph's
- I, CHERYL PERRI, will, with deep regret and only as a last resort, my long-cherished marimba mallets to Diane Nadeau

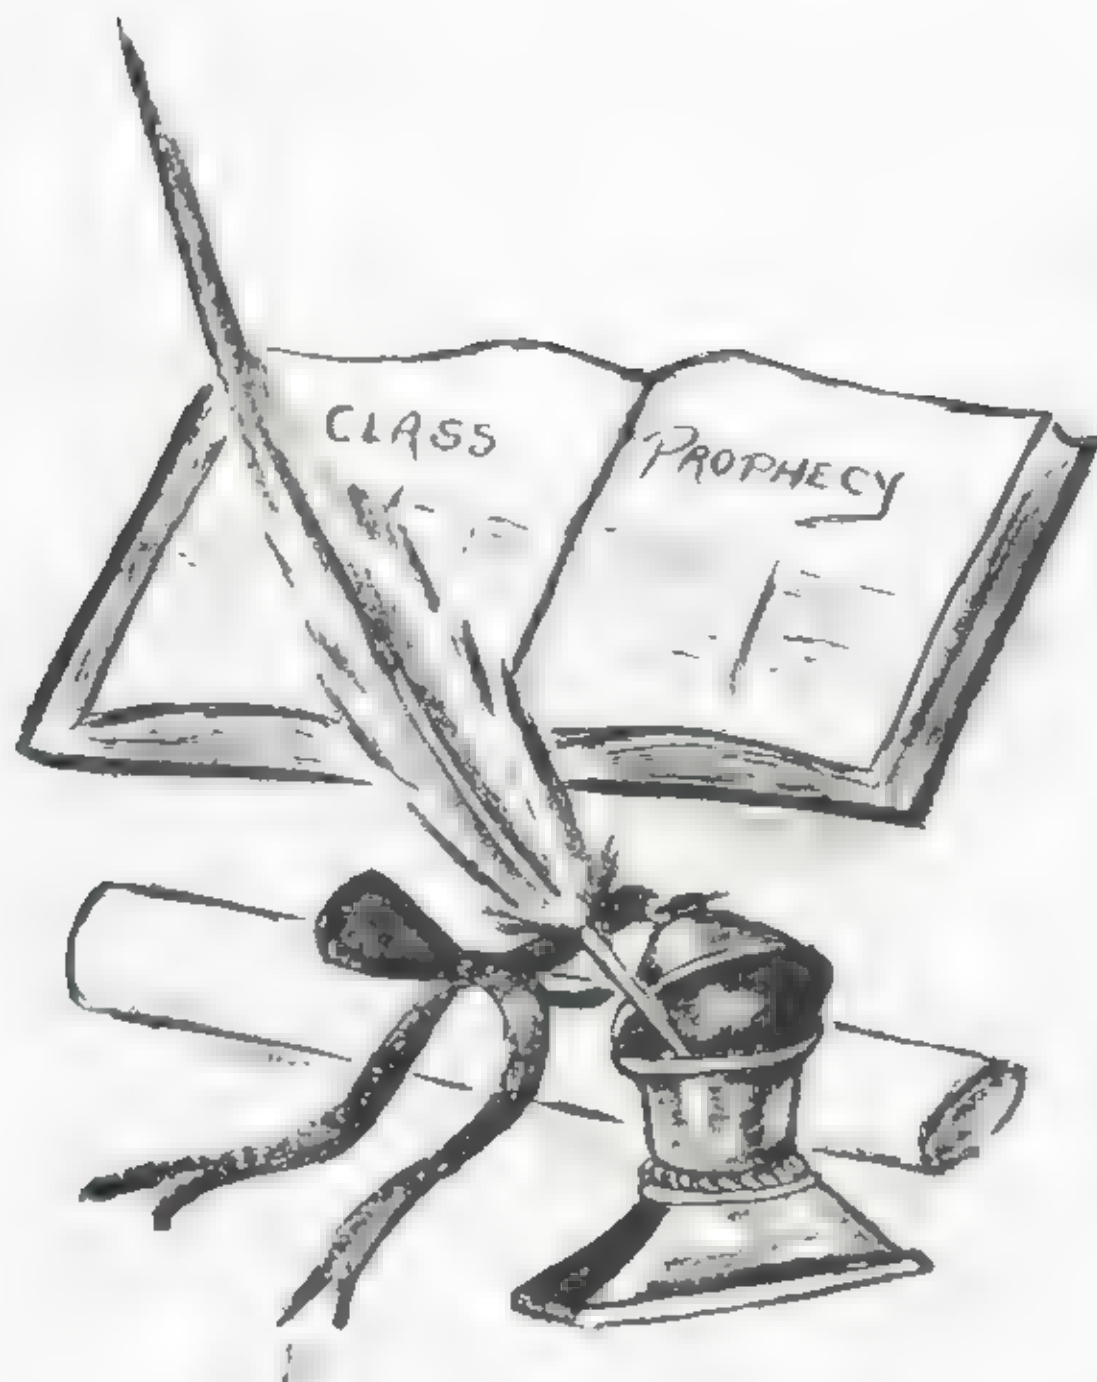

- I. MARY FRANCES PERRY, will to anyone with a motor scooter, my scooter parking place outside Sister M. Delia's room
- I. FRANCES PITERAK, will to Elizabeth Haley, my front seat in English IV, and to Sandra Lavigne, my inability to take speedy notes
- I. DONNA PRECOPIO, will to Denise Brown, my ability to sponge potato chips from someone like Natalie Myers, for four consecutive years, and still retain her as a friend.
- I. SYLVIA PROULX, will to Joanne Bernard, my own private booth at the Mayflower
- I. CYNTHIA PROVOST, will to Marlene Pineault, an extra-loud alarm clock, a full can of nightcrawlers, and a self-operative instantaneous starter for the motor, for use at Webster Lake
- I. MAUREEN PROVOST, will to Joan Gamlin, my ability to walk into marriage course fifty-nine seconds before Father Griffin does (to the extreme delight of Sister M. Olivia).
- I. NANCY PRZYBYLA, will to Susan Fredette, my ability to be cheerful in almost every class.
- I. ROSE LEE REED, will to Helen Kracki, my dictionary, in the hope that she gets more use out of it in her Senior year than I did
- I. JACQUELINE RIVETT, will to Patsie Seavign, my Bookkeeping ability and my fondness for working at Bradlee's
- I. JEANNE ROSSIGNOL, will to Elaine Dors, my front seat in P.O.D., and my marks —if she wants them
- I. JANICE ROY, will to Linda Brack, my permanently curly hair, to Patricia Linehan, my lovely lashes, to Linda King, my job in the mill, and to Kathleen King, my ability to eat three Boston Cream Pies every day without gaining weight
- I. LUBA SEMCZYSZYN, will to all the Juniors, a happy Senior year
- I. NANCY SHANNON, will to Barbara Mullen, in the fun she can possibly have in her Senior year
- I. BARBARA SHEA, will to any junior who wants it, my position as librarian during activity period
- I. KATHLEEN SHEA, will to Janice Trovato, my delicious study period lunches
- I. JUDITH STEELE, will to Nancy Babin, my exciting adventures during second period study
- I. AUDREY STOCKBRIDGE, will to Linda King and Cynthia Lynch, my dancing ability
- I. KAREN SULLIVAN, will to Kathleen MacDonald, my seat on the bus in the morning so that she won't have to stand anymore
- I. MARY SULLIVAN, will to Susan Sheehan, numerous, eventful days of skiing.
- I. STELLA SZOPA, will to Jo-Ann Kelly, my ability at making typing errors

Here we are in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, at the site of the 1974 World's Fair. We are very excited, for we have learned that several of our high school classmates are among the prominent figures participating in this international cultural exchange. And we are right! We are greeted at the impressive gateway by the Fair's official hostess, that noted diplomat, L. SEMCZYSZYN. Further down the corridor, we are presented programs by two charming guides, K. CASEY and J. RIVETT. What is all that noise in the back ground? Why, it's P. B. X. operator D. CLEMENT putting through the numerous calls of world traveler, E. DALY, who is presently on her nineteenth world tour!

We are first attracted to the immense International Hall of Science, which houses all the latest data on recent advances in the science world. Who should first catch our eye but A. CONNORS and M. FRASK, who have been awarded the Nobel prize for their cure for that rare disease, tsetse fly rheumatism. M. F. PERRY is here, too, answering the numerous questions of spectators concerning the sixteen-foot plants she has grown on a purely chemical basis. Conversing animatedly are noted mathematicians J. CUFF (acclaimed as the twentieth century Euclid), P. THIRIAULT, and N. MYERS. They are probably discussing the former's revolutionary theory called Cathian Algebra. Excitedly viewing K. EBERT's display on the research she has undertaken in universal fluoridation is dentist N. SHANNON. We are now passing through this vast hall, nurses P. THORNTON, M. BERGERON, S. COLE, K. McNAMARA, and J. ROSSIG NOLE. Well, it is not the President's personal physician P. TESSIER, and her faithful secretary, E. HUNTER!

Having seen everything of interest in this building, we pass on into the International Hall of Fine Arts. Our attention is immediately caught by two magnificent paintings on a side wall, each one bearing a striking similarity to the other. Near by are their respective creators, F. DISROUCHERS and C. FRANKLAK, who we understand have become involved in an international feud over who copied whom. What a pity! They were such close friends in high school! Not far away we find that proponent of contemporary art, P. BOUVIER, patiently trying to explain one of her modern canvases to a rather unappreciative audience. M. ZAWOROTNY, who is enjoying phenomenal success as a result of her widely syndicated comic strip, is signing autographs for a group of her fans. Turning a corner, a gorgeous floral display looms before us. Why, it is the work of none other than P. CAVANAUGH, whose fresh ideas and original designs have been a great boon to florists everywhere.

Passing from the art section into the World Music Festival area, we are warned by a guide to enter quietly, so as not to disturb the composure of that temperamental violinist, L. ADAMS, who is rehearsing for a concert in which she will be accompanied by that superb pianist, N. PRZYBYLA. Also on the program will be C. PERRI, who has now mastered every known musical instrument and will play a little bit of each. Our attention is caught by a poster announcing the performance of Madame Butterfly, with B. FOLEY and J. DROUIN, noted coloratura and contralto respectively, sharing top billing. We understand that this opera company has appeared all over the world, under the superb management of its agent, D. BOUCHARD. Performing a difficult dance number is famed ballerina B. BAROODY, who is reputed to have received an enticing offer to join the Ballet Russe, (She declined, of course.) We hear that A. STOCKBRIDGE has achieved great renown dancing on Broadway, and is now in direct competition with June Taylor.

We are particularly interested in the literary achievements of recent times, so we hastened into that section of the Hall of Fine Arts. Several best sellers on display are D. PRECOPPO's How to be Great Though Small; B. SHEA's Sonnets from the Americans; C. BENZ's Now Even Monotones Can Sing; D. BUNNEL's The Truth About Homer; and M. F. BARRY's Pulitzer Prize-winning biography, Richard Nixon.

On our way to the sports arena, we pass a rostrum on which J. BALDWIN, well-known orator, is asking the assemblage what they are doing for their countries. We are soon accosted by a huge group of excited laughing children, led by their teacher, none other than L. MORGANSTERN. What devotion, taking a whole first grade to the World's Fair! We observe that acclaimed educator and university president, B. WEICH, scowling from the sidelines. She evidently does not approve of such a teacher-student relationship.

Arriving at the Sports Arena, we learn from the spectators emerging that P. BLIXT has just led the U. S. women's basketball team to its tenth consecutive world championship. This is soon confirmed by the ecstatic cries of J. FINNIGAN, who long ago gave up her career plans in favor of professional cheerleading. Before the next attraction, P. LAZOTT's performing dogs, we have time to visit some of the displays. J. DIERS and C. HORAN are exhibiting the new bamboo skis which they have patented, while M. LEACH is giving away autographed copies of her book The Rehabilitative Values of Skiing. We stop to chat with Olympic swimming stars K. SHEA and C. MONAHAN, and catch sight of internationally known female track stars, M. HABAJ and A. WALLACE. J. MARTIN shows her exclusively designed ice skates to S. SZOPA, buyer for a New York department store.

Having enjoyed the spectacle in the Sports Arena immensely, we pass on to the Space-Drome. On the way, we stop to speak with social worker J. CASTONGUAY, who is accompanied by a group of teenagers whom she has reformed. We also see M. E. BESAKIRSKIS, who was recently awarded a Presidential citation for her work in uncovering Communist subversion in the free world. She informed us that the assistance of F. B. I. counterspy J. BEAUPARLANT had proved invaluable to her in her work.

There was great excitement at the Space-Drome. We could not even get near our old friend J. OCZYKOWSKI, who was making her first public appearance since her historic moon flight. Word has it that she was accompanied on her flight by stewardesses

S. BURKE and J. ROY. We try to console K. DEVINE, who is complaining that she was not invited along on the flight. She soon becomes sufficiently quieted to inform us that the excellent press coverage of this historic event was the work of none other than M. SULLIVAN.

Feeling very hungry, we stop at a restaurant operated by that famed gourmet, V CLANG. We are served in fine style by J. GRUETER, and who should be sitting at the very next table but French Ambassador L. WHITMORE and our delegate to the United Nations, that very diplomatic J. DUVAL. We are told confidentially that Russia proposed a swap of five of its missiles for what it considers the United States' most powerful secret weapons, the PROVOST TWINS. Fortunately, our President never lets go of a good thing, so the twins were quickly placed in important positions in the Department of Defense.

Our last stop is a special pavilion housing the newest advances in the business world. Here we see R. REED and J. WALAS proudly displaying their new computer which threatens to put IBM out of business. Their assistants, business machine experts S. PROULX and I. MURPHY, demonstrate this computer for our benefit. Nearby, J. DONNELLY, author of How to Invest in the Stock Market, debates to secretaries J. MADDEN and A. LEMIRE, while a group of visitors anxiously await a consultation with her. In another section we find C. LONGCHAMPS explaining the uses of her new cleaning fluid, which she claims is especially effective on wooden cafeteria tables. V. JANAS describes the merits of her one-step classroom cleaner to elementary teachers N. BAGWELL and A. HEEA, who are having difficulty in soliciting after-school student help. We are later told that the main component in each of these revolutionary products was produced in the laboratories of C. COTE's chemical company. The cosmetic industry has been monopolized in recent years by C. MICHAEL, who, using D. DALLAIRE's hair for experimentation purposes, has developed several new preparations for the woman of fashion. Speaking of fashion, we spy noted designer F. PITERAK trying one of her designs on model D. LOISELLE, while that perennial fashion-plate J. STEFLE watches intently. She is sure to make at least five purchases!

Concluding our trip of the World's Fair, we are astonished to discover that we have met all but three of our fellow graduates—L. CHEVREUILS, E. BROUILLARD, and K. SULLIVAN. On inquiry, however, we learn that since each is the mother of ten children, a trip to Brazil is quite out of the question!
